PEARL HARBOR: The Day that Lives in Infamy

December 7, 1941 brought an attack upon the United States the likes of which had never been seen before. We tell the story from both the Japanese and the U.S. perspective. We will cover not only how the Japanese planned and executed such a bold attack, but also how the U.S. could have been caught so completely unaware. We will also examine the impact this had on World War II and the American psyche.

A CENTURY OF WOMEN'S PROGRESS

It's been 40 years since Title IX became a law prohibiting gender discrimination in any educational institution receiving federal funds. We use this anniversary to reflect on a century of women's progress in the US. From women's suffrage to the Women's Liberation movement of the 1960's to the role of women in the workforce today and the serious consideration of a woman for President, we will examine how far women have come as well as what many claim remains undone. Register by: 1/3.

THE AMERICAN WEST

As we mark the 150th anniversary of the Homestead Act of 1862, join Active Minds for an exploration of how the West was opened and won. We'll tell the story from a variety of perspectives--from the early explorers who ventured into the unknown to the fortune seekers who raced to the Gold Rush. We'll also include the often brutal elements of what was known at the time as "Manifest Destiny" including conflicts with Native Americans as well as Spanish Mexico, all of which added significant territory to the United States.
